Chowder Fest

What can YOU do with an English Major?
Come to Chowder Fest and find out!

Please join us for a night of conversation and a bowl of hearty soup as part of an evening with Clark English alums! A variety of 3 soups will be served, including a vegetarian option.

Wednesday, October 23rd | 5:30 PM
ANDERSON HOUSE, 12 HAWTHORNE ST.

Introduction to Clark’s Career Connections Center

ELIZABETH GITTENS,
Associate Director of Early Career Development,
Arts and Humanities Career Advisor,
Clark University

Alumni Speakers

JEAN DAO ’12, MAT ’13
minored in English during her time at Clark to add depth to her self-designed major in Diaspora Studies (with a focus on immigrants in the US), to prepare for her studies in Clark’s MAT program, and -- perhaps most importantly -- as a way to explore and deepen her love of literature and writing. She currently serves as the Program Coordinator for Harvard’s Public School Partnerships Program, building bridges between Harvard and public schools in Allston, Brighton, and Cambridge. In her spare time, she can be found reading (duh), baking, gardening, or crafting.

TOM MATTHEWS ’16
is a Worcester native and graduate of Clark University currently working as the Marketing & Content Specialist for Niche Hospitality Group. Prior to his current position, he worked as the Public Relations & Social Media Coordinator for the Worcester Railers HC for two years. He began his career out of college as a reporter for Worcester Magazine, where he received a First Place Education Reporting award, First Place Photo Series award, and the Publick Occurrences award.
